

Calling all students!

Each year, we hire high school students as artist apprentices who are immersed in the study of an art form, receive college- and career-readiness training, and are paid for their work.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

ArtWorks is a paid creative arts-based job training and college readiness after-school program for high school students, ages 14-18. Each year, we hire high school students as artist apprentices for the opportunity to study and practice an art form, receive college and career readiness training, intern with a local cultural organization, and learn how to work in a team, all while being paid!

HOW DOES IT WORK?

For 24 weeks in an after-school setting, high school students apprentice with professional artists to produce high quality art and gain valuable workforce development skills. Students will network and build connections while engaging with and serving the community through the creation, exhibition, and performance of original works of art at public venues.

WHAT DO YOU GET OUT OF IT?

"I believe ArtWorks teaches things to teens that we will need to know for our future. ArtWorks also teaches us about different media in art, and also provides us access to excellent instructors and teachers to learn from. This program is overall so beneficial to teens."

Rivy APPRENTICE

"I joined the ArtWorks program as an apprentice, and it opened my eyes to all the amazing things happening in my town and has been a great first job. I didn't know anyone going into the program but meeting and working with so many different types of people helped me to be more open and grow."
